

Spirotech Privacy Policy and Cookie Statement

Spirotech bv, hereinafter “Spirotech”, takes the protection of your privacy very seriously. We therefore handle your personal data confidentially and with the greatest possible care.

This Privacy Policy applies to all personal data that are collected and used by Spirotech. These data are customer data provided by you, but also data concerning visits to our website, subscriptions to newsletters, and participation in campaigns or promotions for example.

Spirotech only uses your data if you consent or if Spirotech needs your data to deliver products or services to you or has already done so. Spirotech does not sell your personal data to third parties. Spirotech only makes the data available to third parties involved in the performance of the agreement between Spirotech and yourself. If and when Spirotech processes your data in any other way, such will require your (express) consent.

Privacy Policy

1. General

The protection of your personal data is very important to us. That is why we comply strictly with the rules that apply to data protection as well as telemedia legislation. Our employees commit that they will comply with the data protection regulations when handling your personal data.

We wish to inform you by means of this privacy statement of the nature, scope and purpose of the collection, processing and use of personal data, as well as your rights. The term personal data is defined in the EU General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR). According to this regulation, personal data concerns all information with respect to an identified or identifiable natural person. This includes for example your name, your address, your telephone number and your e-mail address.

2. Collection, processing and use of personal data

Spirotech collects, processes and uses personal data insofar as the EU GDPR or another statutory provision permits or requires this or if the person involved has consented thereto. Normally speaking, the use of our website is possible without providing personal data. Insofar as personal data, such as name, address and e-mail address, are requested on our websites, such always takes place on a voluntary basis.

We refer to the fact that unencrypted data transfer on the internet, such as communication by e-mail, may result in security issues. Complete protection of the data against third-party access is impossible.

3. Transfer of data to third parties

Spirotech does not sell or provide your personal data to third parties and only makes these data available to third parties that are involved in the provision of the agreed services. Our employees and hired third parties are obliged to respect the confidentiality of your data.

4. Data retention

Spirotech retains your personal data for as long as this is necessary to provide our services. If you decide to stop using our services, we will remove your personal data at your request. Please bear in mind that a copy of these data may be stored in back-ups.

5. Information, correction and objection

You have the right to request information concerning the personal data stored by us and to have these corrected or removed. What is more, you can withdraw your consent to future use of your data at any time or request that your data be transferred to another provider. An e-mail to the following address is sufficient: marketing@spirotech.com. You also have the right to submit a complaint to the supervising data protection authority.

6. Changes to this Privacy Policy

This Privacy Policy may be updated as a result of changes to the applicable legislation or as a result of changes within our business or our services. We will announce any adjustments via this page. We therefore recommend that you read the Privacy Policy regularly in order to stay informed. In the event we implement changes that have a significant impact on you, we will inform you thereof by sending an e-mail message or via our services for example.

Cookie Statement

Our website uses cookies. A cookie is a text file that is sent when visiting a website as a visitor and that is stored in the cache of the hard drive of your computer. The browser of your computer sends the cookie received previously back to the server if you as a visitor to the website connect again to the relevant server of the website. If this is the case, the server will be able to evaluate the information obtained by means of this procedure in various ways. Cookies may be used to send advertisements or facilitate navigation to a website for example. If you as the user of the website wish to prevent cookies from being used, you can realise this by changing the local browser settings, which means in the program on the device for opening and showing websites (such as Internet Explorer, Mozilla Firefox, Chrome or Safari).

The website uses the following three types of cookies:

Functional and necessary cookies

Some cookies are necessary for the correct operation of the website. We use these cookies to store your preferences. These are cookies that are used to recognise you as soon as you have registered. This means that you do not have to enter your username and/or password each time you visit the website and we will be certain that you have the right to visit and modify secure areas of our website such as your personal data.

Social media and external cookies

You can make use of additional functionalities if you have logged into social network sites (Facebook, Google, etc.) and have consented to this category of cookies on the Spirotech website. These functionalities include the simple sharing of information via Facebook Like, Google+, Twitter etc. Review the policy of the social media companies for the cookies they place and the possible data they collect when doing so. Bear in mind that this policy may change on a regular basis. This is beyond Spirotech's control.

Optimisation and relevance of cookies

We also use cookies to collect information. This information shows us which pages are visited most often, which pages work well, and which pages display error messages. We use this information to improve the ease of use of the website.

Google Analytics

Our website also uses Analytics cookies placed by Google Analytics to measure the number of visits and the sections of the website that are most popular among the visitors to the website. This information is used for aggregated and statistical information concerning the use of our website and is used to improve the content of our website for a better user experience. Our website also uses Analytics cookies to measure your experience of our website and to be able to measure the effectiveness of e-mail campaigns, advertisements of Adwords on other, third-party websites.

Spirotech uses Google Analytics in a privacy-friendly manner as recommended by the Dutch Data Protection Authority. Among other things, Spirotech concluded a processing agreement that obliges Google Analytics to use data exclusively for the abovementioned analysis purposes, to remove the last 4 digits of your IP address and to oblige Google to use the data separately from their other services.

Google AdWords (including DoubleClick)

This functionality is used to show visitors to our website advertisements on third-party websites (including Google). This enables us to offer our products in a targeted manner to visitors to our websites.

Naturally, cookies can also be blocked. Most internet browsers have the option of refusing cookies or showing a notification when you receive a cookie. How this works depends on the browser used. Remember that certain sections of the website may not function or may not function correctly if you block cookies and that in some cases you may not be able to visit the website. You may opt to block Google cookies (opt-out) by visiting the Google Ads page:
